

DAY OF FREAKS IN YORKVILLE COURT

Magistrate Has His Hands Full with Man Kept from Paradise.

What with a visit from the Czarina of Russia, the arrest and detention of a gentleman who insisted on going at once "to Paradise" and the interruption of a marriage ceremony, to-day night without exaggeration have been called Freak Day at the Yorkville Court, where Magistrate Pool is sitting.

The first case to the bar was that of Elise Leigh, who was accused of taking away certain possessions of a friend of hers, Cassie Burke, who lives at No. 109 First avenue. Elise is a dressmaker and she has been married three times. Apparently she is in no wise discouraged, for she told the Magistrate that if she was held it would interfere with her forthcoming marriage on Sunday to a "well known and highly bred young man of money about town."

She lives in the Palace Hotel, Fifty-eighth street and Third avenue. Last night she went to visit her friend Cassie. The two girls had several drinks and then as it was raining, Elise consented to remain over night with her friend.

In the night Cassie awoke and found Elise had departed. There were also absent Cassie's $50 diamond ring, several other rings, two watches and a pin. The whole collection was worth $100.

Held in $500 Bail.

Cassie hid her to the police and Elise came to court. She told her story and declared that she was innocent. Also she told the story of her marital experiences. Her first husband, she said, she had divorced. The next one died, and the third and up to date last, ran away. Though she protested at the arraignment she was held in $500 bail for trial.

The next case was called and a pallid but determined little man stepped forward. He wore a faded tie and three days' beard and his hair was a near russet. He said in husky tones that his name was John Boyan and that he lived at Sixty-fifth street and Third avenue. He could not remember the number. He was charged with intoxication.

"Protest," he cried, "at this high handed and outrageous treatment. I am a citizen of this great and free country and I was imprisoned by the fellow pointing to the policeman, with withering scorn, 'just as I was about to take my departure to Heaven. It is the prerogative of the American to go where he wants to. You are even now detaining me from arriving in Paradise on time. I am now three hours late, and they will miss me.'"

Czarina Visits Court.

"Considering you are so late," said Pool, "I will give you five days more to prepare more thoroughly for your trip." Boyan departed, raising. "Ah-h-h your imperial highness," signed a well dressed and impressive looking woman, as she dropped a low courtesy before the astonished magistrate. "As the Empress and Czarina of all the Russias, I salute you." "What?" shouted Magistrate Pool. The woman repeated her statement. She was Mrs. Francis Hess, of No.

203 East Fifty-sixth street, and she had procured a warrant for her husband, who she told Magistrate Pool yesterday, "had tied her to the bed-post and whaled her with the end of a bedpost. Poor, incensed, had given the woman a warrant, and the couple were both in court. Mr. Hess showed a certificate from the Manhattan Insane Asylum to the effect that the woman had been discharged. That is true," interrupted Mrs. Hess. "It was there that I learned of my husband. I will reward you well my good man." Magistrate Pool bowed low.

"HUNGER STRIKE" ON IN RUSSIAN JAILS

MOSCOW, April 6.—The political prisoners, with whom the local jails are crowded, have declared a "hunger strike" (refusing to partake of food) to compel the authorities either to bring them to immediate trial or order their release.

Many of the prisoners have been three months in jail without being confronted with the charges against them, notwithstanding the fact that Interior Minister Durnovo, in an official order made public some time ago, instructed the local officials throughout the empire to arraign prisoners within twenty-four hours after their arrest.

But the police also received instructions to hold by administrative order all prisoners against whom no definite charges could be brought.

The decision of the political prisoners to starve themselves has increased the excitement caused by the election campaign here, which closes Sunday. Strong detachments of Cossacks are patrolling the industrial quarters.

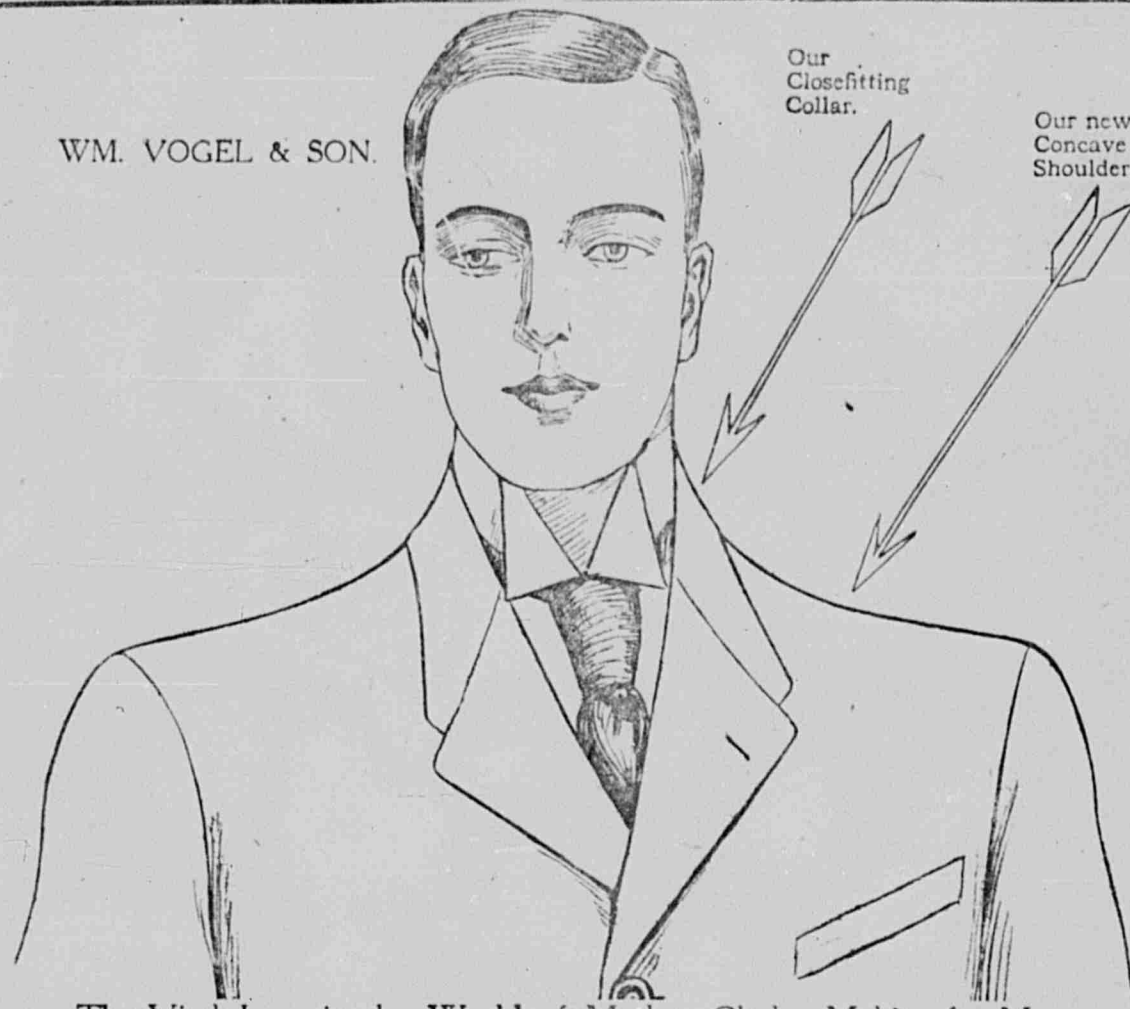

MILLIONAIRES HELD MAN IN WALDORF

For several days guests at the Waldorf-Astoria have been complaining of the theft of jewelry and sums of money from their rooms. The house detective, getting busy, learned that a stranger had been hanging around the corridors very persistently of late, without any apparent business.

Late last night a chambermaid saw the mysterious stranger snooping around on the seventh floor. She began to whisper to the police, and a delegation of eleven Pittsburg millionaires piled out into the hall and detained the furtive one by sitting on him until Detective-Sergeant Sullivan and Snyder came in from the street and took charge of the captive.

At headquarters he told he was Henry Johnson, thirty-eight years old, late of England and now living at No. 317 Hudson street. Detective Sullivan that number and in Johnson's room discovered a lot of empty jewelry cases. His picture was not in the local gallery, but the police photographer soon remedied that.

Our Closefitting Collar.

Our new Concave Shoulder.

The Vital Issue in the World of Modern Clothes-Making for Men: Our "Concave" Shoulder & "Close-Fitting" Collar.

Consult the higher authorities in modern clothes-making for men, and they will tell you that the shoulder is the vital issue in a coat. Without a perfect shoulder the result is an imperfect coat. Nothing will so mar the lines or the fit of a garment as a poorly-made, drooping shoulder. The shoulder is the pivotal point upon which the success of a Coat turns.

For years the shoulder of a Coat has been with us a deep study, and out of all has come our "Concave" Shoulder—a thing great in itself, yet greater in what it means to the entire garment.

Our "Concave" Shoulder is modelled and shaped by hand, it gives the desired height and breadth without exaggeration, and eliminates all superfluous wadding. More than that it holds the Coat in perfect balance and gives the true proportion. It is incorporated together with our "Close-Fitting" Collar in every one of our
